Artist Statement

This art piece is of a red panda, my favorite animal. For a while now I have been trying to get better at drawing realistic looking animals. I'm not used to drawing things like this but I was very proud of its outcome. I practiced drawing cats, red pandas, and raccoons in particular. I am slowly starting to get better, although it's still a little hard. I know I still have room for improvement but this art piece really shows how much my skill in drawing animals has improved. It's definitely not the style I'm used to doing, but I hope I will continue to get better. I really like this artwork and I hope you will too.
