

I'm not an angel.

The book is not harmful. The book is not harmful. The book is not harmful. The book is not harmful.

The book is an arrow
It is not an arrow
It is not an arrow

No matters no furinals

300274 P

Escapism

Student: Aubrey Quaschnick
District: Cheney Public Schools
School: Cheney High School
Instructor: Jessa Morissey

Medium: Acrylic

Artist Statement

I find a lot of comfort in my art and my books. When I read, it's an escape. I get fully immersed in the world I'm reading about. It almost feels like I'm in the book and it's coming to life around me. So, in my painting, I made one of my favorite books, Six of Crows, come to life. I wanted to make it come alive as much as possible, so I made some important aspects of the book and characters' personalities jump out. I even left blank spots in the book for words and quotes to jump out too. This was a fun challenge for me since I had never painted words like the ones on the spines of the books before, this was my biggest painting, and I had fun painting all the fine details which was a little different for me.

Status: Exhibit only