

Anatomy of-

Student: Aly Vanderpool
District: Central Valley School District
School: Central Valley High School
Instructor: Rebekah Wilkins-Pepiton

Medium: Acrylic

Artist Statement

This piece expresses how we often take for granted being able to go outside and breathe the fresh air, because we are cooped up inside, or choose to stay inside because its comfortable. I chose the representation of nature growing out of the persons face because it symbolizes embracing that beauty and letting it flow through you, being able to always smell the fragrance and feel the breeze because its a part of you. The inability to reflect that privilege.

Status: Exhibit only