Beauty After the Pain

Medium: Photography Edited in LightRoom

Artist Statement

This picture represents the struggles we have in life. Behind every beautiful flower there are tears that we try to hide. The pain that causes the tears is also the pain that helps us grow into beautiful roses. Against all of the struggles we have had for the past 4 years, graduation is right around the corner. The rose represent how much my class has had to go through in the last 4 years of high school. From being Freshmen with a ruined year, to finally having a normal year only to realize we had become Seniors. Through all the tears and struggles we have had to face, finally we are blooming into beautiful roses.
