Artist Statement

The meaning of my artwork is love and friendship. Many of my created characters in the drawing are dating, but they are all friends with each other. I made sure to portray this by having them all smile and be close to one another. I used multiple colors to keep the viewer's eyes moving around the piece, different shapes, and few words to portray my character's emotions. First, I used multiple references to create my characters. Secondly, I traced over my pencil lines with ink, then erased the pencil and colored my characters. My characters have been made at various times but are all personal to me. Certain features of mine I gave to my characters both physically and personality wise. My friendships are also remarkably similar to my characters' friendships. I named them after other characters I like and named them from what I thought suited them. They all came to me at different points in my life.
