Artist Statement

Everyday we as human beings, experience multiple thoughts, feelings, and decisions. Most of the time we associate our thought process coming from our mind and our emotions from our heart. We should take into consideration that maybe everything we think, do, say, feel, etc. come from both our heart and mind coexisting with each other. My portfolio revolves around the question, "How can the mind and heart's connection be portrayed by their individual perspectives?". Throughout all of my pieces I want to experiment with focusing on the different thought processes and complex feelings people have, by representing it through the outlook of how the heart processes situations as well as how the mind does.
